SANDQVIST

→ 20 Year Anniversary

'From Nordic Landscapes', a motto that still rings true 20 years after we coined the phrase. Our bags always reflect this simplicity and beauty.

We're committed to creating the best products that last and prioritize both users and the planet. Looking back on our two-decade journey filled with bags, tales, and unforgettable moments, we're exploring where we've been to guide where we're headed next. This seasons borrows from the past, both in terms of colour and silhouettes. Our Everyday series paves the way for a new era of classic Sandqvist styles inspired from the archives.

Our work goes beyond the products we produce, and stretches from how we design them, carefully choose the materials, work with our suppliers, transport the products and engage our customers into consuming them in a sustainable way.

We only use organic cotton which is grown without harmful chemical pesticides and artificial fertilizers. The cotton is harvested on a small scale by farmers in Adilabad, India, ensured of a decent salary and working conditions.

Our recycled polyester comes both from post-consumer waste of PET-bottles and chemically recycled textiles, also collected from consumer waste. This process means the fabric gives a new lease of life to waste material that is not naturally biodegradable.

All leather we use has been tanned in tanneries that conforms to our highly set standards regarding social and environmental conditions, which has been third-party verified by the Leather Working Group.

Our recycled nylon is made from post-industrial waste, derived from discarded nylon-based products. Reclaimed nylon waste, which otherwise would be incinerated, are shredded and turned into a new, lightweight and durable fabric.

By restricting harmful chemicals, we also contribute to a healthy work environment for the people producing our bags while at the same time paving the way to recycle the materials once they've reached their end-of-life.

Our bags are designed to be long-lasting. We hold our fabrics and finished bags to high quality standards, making sure that durability is a corner stone of our product development. We also strive to re-use waste material in all of our products, and extend the life of the bags through our in-store repair service and care products.

We take great pride in maintaining a kind supply chain, with fair wages and safe work environments for everyone involved from sketch to finished bag. For that reason we have been a member of the Fair Wear Foundation since 2016.

At Sandqvist we strive to re-use waste materials in all of our products, and extend the life of our bags through our in-store repair service and care products.
